Cookie Policy

Effective Date: 27th September 2026

1. Introduction

Pliosaur Energy Ltd ("us", "we", or "our") uses cookies and similar storage and access technologies on www.pliosaurenergy.com (the "Service"). This includes browser local storage (localStorage).

This policy explains what these technologies are, why we use them, the technologies currently identified on the Service, how long they are used or stored, the third parties involved, and the choices available to you.

UK rules on cookies also apply to other technologies that store information on, or access information from, a user's device. Where consent is required, we ask for it before using the relevant non-exempt technology. Technologies that are strictly necessary to provide a service you request, and other uses that fall within a legal exception, may be used without consent in accordance with applicable law.

2. Cookies, local storage and similar technologies

Cookies are small text files stored by your browser. They can be session cookies, which are normally removed when a session ends, or persistent cookies, which remain until their expiry date or until they are deleted.

Local storage is browser storage used by a website to keep information on your device. It is not a cookie, but it is covered by the same UK storage and access rules. Local storage does not normally expire automatically; an item remains until it is removed or overwritten by the website, or until you clear the site's stored data in your browser.

Where information stored or accessed through these technologies is personal data, data protection law may also apply.

3. How Pliosaur Energy uses these technologies

We use cookies and local storage for purposes including:

• keeping the Service secure and maintaining user sessions;

• load balancing and routing requests to the correct server;

• maintaining a shopping cart and checkout flow;

• remembering language and currency choices;

• supporting payment processing and fraud prevention through Stripe and PayPal; and

• remembering your cookie or storage preference.

The technologies listed below do not include advertising technologies. If we introduce new analytics, advertising or other non-essential technologies, we will update this policy and provide the consent or objection controls required by law before relying on them.

5. Third-party services

Some of the technologies used by the Service are supplied by third parties. These providers may process information in accordance with their own privacy and cookie information, particularly when you use their payment services.

For reference, the main websites of these service providers are shown below. The addresses are provided as plain text rather than embedded hyperlinks.

Provider	Service used	Suggested website
Amazon Web Services (AWS)	Website infrastructure and load balancing	aws.amazon.com
Stripe	Card payment processing and fraud prevention	stripe.com
PayPal	PayPal payment functionality	paypal.com

A third-party payment interface may use additional cookies or storage when you open or use that interface. The exact technologies used by a provider can change over time, so you should also review the provider's current information.

6. Your choices and consent

Continuing to browse the Service is not treated as consent to non-exempt cookies or storage technologies. Where consent is required, we rely on a clear positive choice.

You can usually delete or block cookies and local storage through your browser settings. You can also clear the stored data for pliosaurenergy.com. If the Service provides a cookie or privacy control, you can use that control to change your choice for technologies covered by it.

Blocking or deleting necessary technologies may prevent login, shopping-cart, checkout, payment or other requested features from working correctly. Preference storage may also be recreated when you make a new language, currency or similar choice.

7. Changes to this policy

We may update this policy when the Service, the technologies we use, or legal requirements change. The effective date at the top of this policy shows when it was last updated.
